Future Listings

Whenever you get a lead for someone who might want to move in the near future, even if someone just drops a hint they might be selling, write a note here. Note name, property address, and contact details. When you list one of these properties, take a brightly colored highlighter and strike it off the list as a major accomplishment!